MILLIE MUNRO: SLIGHT CHANGE OF PLAN, SAME LEVEL OF SERVICE

We've all heard the saying about the best laid plans of mice and men. Well, just because we're here in sunny Spain doesn't mean any of us are immune. We all suffer setbacks from time to time, whether its in our personal or business life. The thing that really matters at times like these is what we do to move on and improve.

Millie Munro

A few weeks ago, Millie Munro found herself in exactly this predicament. For those of you who don't know, Millie runs a very successful business providing health and life care services including health and funeral plans. Predominantly based in the North of the region from her offices in Benitachell. Over many years, she has built a very loyal and extremely satisfied client base. The business employs 9 full time people, providing the highest quality of service.

Millie recognised a growing demand from the Southern Costa Blanca. With a 'business partner', she set up an office in Benijofar. Unfortunately, after only a few weeks, Millie found herself severely let down and due to the legacy of previous tenants was unable to trade from the business premises her so-called 'business partner' had found. A key part of doing business for Millie is ensuring everything is legal and above board, to have carried on in Benijofar would have been a compromise.

However, in that short time, it was clear that people really wanted Millie's brand of service: personal yet professional, good value for money, and some good solid advice about health insurance, funeral planning and other types of insurance.

So, undeterred, Millie is proud to announce that she has now moved into her own office within the Property Salespana offices in San Miguel de Salinas. Millie will be holding regular 'surgeries' for clients old and new. Additionally, Millie can ensure that all her clients in the South are able to receive the personal touch which is so vital in providing the standards of care and service for which she is known. Obviously, Millie's full range of services are catered for including; Golden Leaves funeral plans, El Perpetuo Socorro health plans, house insurance, car insurance.
